The Oil Situation.

Indications are growing that Medina county will be on the map as an oil field long before either Joe Bailly, Pat Neff or Hobby are elected governor of Texas. A big oil development company with a $75,000 stock is in process of organization, with Fritz Faseler as president, and L. J. Schmidt as vice-president. The principal member of the new concern is an experienced oil man and is the man who put the Ranger field on the map, and we understand he has unbounded confidence in the undertaking he is now engaged in.
The purpose of the new company is to immediately sink two test wells.
The property to be developed is six or seven miles directly south of Taylor
No. 1, now drilling on the Haegelin farm. These two propositions will determine whether oil is to be found on the leases of these two companies as we understand it is the purpose of the Taylor Company to sink Taylor No. 2 at an early date.

The Medina Oil Development Company had a geologist to examine its holdings last week-end, and there is a rumor to the effect that two locations were made, but we cannot vouch for the truthfulness of the rumor as those in charge of the matter have made no announcement. The Medina Oil Development Company's holdings lay directly east of the holdings of the two companies mentioned above, with the Midrio drilling to the west, insures a thorough test for oil in this part of Uncle Sam's bailiwick.

It is a pretty safe conclusion that there will be "something doing" in this section in the near future. A1 geologists who have examined the territory where these activities are starting have given it as their judgment that an oil pool will be tapped, and the truthfulness or falsity of their opinion will soon be verified. It is to be hoped that the knockers will retire their little hammers into innocuous des-uetude for a time and not try to discourage the men who are working for their interest and trying to put Medina county on the map. If they can't help they can at least keep quiet. It would be impossible to estimate the benefit that would accrue to Hondo should an oil field be opened up here, and we believe even the knockers will admit something should be done to put new life in the town. Now is the time to push.

Graff-Scheile.

On Saturday, February 21, occurred the marriage of Mr. Louis Graff and Miss Emma Scheile at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Graff, Rev. Falkenberg officiating. It was a quiet affair, only the relatives and immediate friends of the couple being present to witness the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scheile of Tarpley, while the groom is a promising young farmer of the upper Hondo section.

Methodist Church--Special Notice.

It is said that February has five Sundays only three times in a hundred years. In thinking over the matter, it occurred to me that it would be a good thing to make it a general Church going day. Let all our members and all others, not otherwise engaged, make a special effort to attend the services next Sunday. Let us come for the specific purpose of worshipping in such earnestness of soul, that we may never forget the fifth Sunday in February 1920.

Errata.

In the list of teachers for the 1920-21 term of the Hondo public school as selected by the trustees and published in last week's Anvil Herald an error occurred in which we had Miss Willie Fly "profiteering" in positions while Miss Bessie Brucks' name was left out. As we think Miss Willie will have thoroughly discharged her duty when she teaches one grade, and to show that we are willing to abide the action of the school board, we hereby relieve her from the sixth grade and assign that grade to Miss Bessie, the board's selection. Just how we happened to make the error we don't know consequently can't explain, and as we are willing to let the faculty remain as the board arranged it we trust the young ladies interested will forgive us, particularly when promise never to let it happen again.

A Warning.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
It has been the custom during the hunting season, and especially since the season is closed, for several parties to camp in the public road and hunt with dogs and fire arms deer and turkeys both day and night, in our pastures up on the Hondo. The guilty parties are hereby finally warned to stay out altogether. Whosoever does not heed this order hereafter will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Just put the job up to the New Edison.

Do the young folks want to dance? All right—here's the newest fox-trot. Sing?—here's the song that's got all Broadway humming. Learn?—all opera opens its pages.

Not mere talking-machine music, mind you! But RE-CREATED music! The very music which, given at some notable concert, draws people miles through any weather. The New Edison gives the life, the spirit, the enthusiasm, the soul of the music, gives you everything the living artist can give, excepting his physical presence.

If you'll stop in for a few minutes, we'll show you what a New Edison really is, and how you can have it sent right out to your home.

WING - SHOTS AFIELD. OR OFF-HAND OBSERVATIONS

By FLETCHER DAVIS,
 Field Agent of the State Department of Agriculture.

The season of the year for tree-planting is rapidly approaching. The planting of trees is something that has been too long neglected by the American people. In fact, the effort has been to get rid of the timber with which nature supplied us; and we have destroyed it with such a prodigious hand that we are in a fair way to be in need of timber before we can grow a new crop. Every spot of ground that can support a tree should be planted with some kind that is adapted to the soil and climatic conditions of the particular locality and it should be protected from vandal destruction afterwards.

Information coming to the writer is to the effect that nursery stock of all kinds, and especially of peach trees, is scarce this fall and in all probability will be far short of the demand. This is exceedingly unfortunate at this time. With the splendid season now in the subsoil this is an ideal time for planting an orchard, and the man with an orchard site should not let a little advance in the cost of nursery stock deter him from planting.

Few things contribute more to the material support or bring more pleasure to the farm family than a good bearing orchard. Of course, not all fruits will grow in all climates; neither do all farms have soil adapted to all the fruits that thrive in this immediate locality. But there are few if any farms so situated that it is impossible to grow some one or more varieties of fruits. A careful study of his soil, climate conditions and the fruits growing in his locality will enable most any man to select those varieties that best promise to meet his needs and conditions.

Of course, not much can be given in a general way and within the limits of the space of a farm journal that will enable a man to solve his specific problems. These problems are as many as our differences in soil and climate and our numerous varieties of fruit-bearing plants. It can be safely stated, however, that orchards can only be successfully grown on soil where the permanent moisture level is within reach of the root of the trees.

Many costly failures have resulted from efforts to grow orchards in much of the western portion of our State in defiance of this very elemental law of nature and where facilities for irrigation are inadequate. As a rule, too, the best orchards over the greater part of our State are situated on a northern slope or exposure. One of the most frequent causes of failure in the fruit crop, especially of peaches and plums, is the premature blossoming of the trees. If planted where they will be least susceptible to the warming influences of the sunshine in winter they will remain in a dormant state later in the spring and are, therefore, less liable to be caught and damaged by late freezes.

If the scarcity of nursery stock has the effect of awakening a new interest in the growing of seedling trees, the writer is old-fashioned enough to believe that it will not have been without beneficial effects. Some of the best fruits the writer ever saw came from seedling trees, and, as a matter of fact, all of our best grafted varieties came originally from seedlings. The effort to grow fruit from seed plantings will necessarily mean many disappointments, through the failure of seeds to reproduce in kind, but, on the whole, we believe it will mean greater permanency to our home orchards if we plant more seeds.

Budding and grafting is a simple process and any farmer capable of growing a seedling tree can multiply the number of any desirable variety he may discover by grafting or budding onto his native seedling stocks.

It is almost heart-sickening to witness the neglect to which the home orchard on many of our farms is subjected. Live stock are permitted to depredate on the trees, injuring the branches and trampling the soil around the roots. Dead and dying trees and branches are left to decay where they are, making an eye-sore of what should be a beauty spot and affording breeding places for numerous injurious insects. And if cultivated at all the orchard is apt to be planted to some money crop that will eventually rob the fruit crop of more than its value in the first place.

Keep the orchard properly pruned and sprayed, protect it from vandalism of all sort—which means pasturing the live stock elsewhere—and let the crops you do grow on the soil be leguminous crops that will improve the soil rather than rob the fruit trees. An orchard that is worth having at all is worth caring for properly.

It is a rather sudden change from a discussion of so delicious a thing as fruit to so dry a subject as cotton. But not all cotton is 'dry' at this immediate writing. Wherefore this sudden diversion and these somewhat disconnected amusements. One cannot travel far these days through the cotton growing sections of our State without remarking the utter abandon with which our cotton is handled after it is baled. It can be seen by the thousand of bales—bales worth $200.00 and better on the open market—out in the open taking all sorts of weather and not infrequently lying broadside in the mud.

This is a condition that ought not to be. It is a sad commentary upon the thrift and intelligence of the Southern farmer. We say the 'farmer' for, while your little street corner buyer is the worst offender in this particular, the loss is eventually passed back to and taxed on the farmer, for it is bought from him in the first place at a margin to insure against any loss that may accrue in this manner. Every one, be he farmer or buyer, who is holding his cotton should see that it is sufficiently elevated from the ground to prevent absorption of moisture, and that it is properly covered so as to protect it from rain. The safest place for it is in a well protected and insured bonded warehouse. It is passing strange that with labor so scarce and high and cotton so valuable, we will still permit it to rot out in the back yard.

Another source of waste on the farm is like unto the one just referred to above. As one traverses the country in any direction, not only are plows and cultivators often seen at the end of the last furrow they plowed, but often times expensive farm machinery left where last used, there to take the various changes of the weather all unprotected until needed for use again. Could one see the aggregate figures of the loss thus caused they would stagger the comprehension.

It is sufficient to make the business of the scrap-iron or junk dealer more lucrative than the business of the farmer. If the machinery and implements of the farm have not been put up since their last use they should be gathered in out of the weather, sheltered, oiled up, painted, and broken or worn parts mended or renewed. Thus cared for they will be ready for immediate use when their season returns and costly delays, from stopping to repair or replace broken and worn out parts or entire implements in the midst of the busy season, be avoided.

The excessive rainfall of the summer and fall has injured much of our crops, and this is going to render seeds of all kinds that are sound and of desirable quality for planting scarce and hard to find. Already there is quite a scramble on for cotton seed and just ordinary planting seeds have already sold for $150.00 per ton in car lots. What the farmer will have to pay who defers his purchase until planting time next spring is yet the merest conjecture—but it will doubtless be a plenty. Farmers having their own supply of planting seeds of any kind—cotton or other farm crops—should see to it that they are properly cared for and kept in good sound condition until needed. Those who must purchase their seeds should lose no time in buying.

(The Southland Farmer, Dec. 1, 1919.)

There is always much to do on the farm. But the wise farmer knows that all work and no diversion is as bad for the farm family as all one-cropping and no diversification is bad for the land. Just as nature, when permitted to do so, restores the lost fertility of over-worked soil so does the natural instinct of the young people on the farm lead them to seek the diversion their natures crave. But just as the intelligent farmer knows that a wise system of crop rotation will restore the lost fertility to soil more readily than will nature alone when undirected, so does he know that well directed diversion will the more readily and surely bring about a well-balanced and wholesome development of the social and moral natures of the young people. Happy is the man or woman who is gifted with the faculty or rural social leadership; blessed is he who is morally worthy of such leadership. And thrice blessed is that community which has in its midst and among its citizenship such leaders.

But much of the winter season is of such a nature as to make social mingling of our young people, especially in the more sparsely settled rural districts, rather difficult. Many of the long winter evenings will necessarily have to be spent at home by the family fireside. Here is the place and

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

the opportunity to inculcate a love for good wholesome literature. What papers and books have you for the young people to read? By all means supply them with that which is best. The Southland Farmer will doubtless help you select that which is most desirable. One's character—yes, even the character of different classes—may often be determined by the nature and extent of their reading. But therein lies another story.

MOTHERS OF TEXAS, PREPARE

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, and when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. Many women in Texas would testify just as do the following:

HOUSTON, TEXAS.—"When I was a young girl I suffered from irregularity and pain. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription relieved me of all pain and regulated me so that I was completely restored to health. Since I married, whenever I have needed a special tonic I have taken 'Favorite Prescription' and have been amply repaid for the comfort and strength it has given me."—MRS. M. FREEMAN, 414 Marie Street.

WACO, TEXAS.—"It is a pleasure to me to recommend a medicine that has been of such great benefit to me as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was while raising my family. I have taken this 'Prescription' as a tonic during pregnancy and I know it helped me in every way. It is an ideal medicine for the mother to be."—MRS. BEULAH OWENS, 313 North 4th Street.

GALVESTON, TEXAS.—"When I was quite a young girl I had a terribly nervous spell. My stomach was affected so that I craved food all the time, and I could not sleep at night. My doctor advised me to take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription (sold by druggists), and before half the bottle had been taken I lost all the abnormal appetite and was able to rest well at night. I have never had such a condition since that time so can honestly say that the 'Favorite Prescription' cured me of my nervous ailment."—MRS. ELLEN LASWELL, 1614 19th Street.

Miss Stella Steps entertained with a shower Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Boehme in honor of Mrs. Alfred J. Wurzbach, the bride of last week. Refreshments consisting of coffee and cake was served. The bride received many useful and beautiful presents.

Louie Hoog and family of San Antonio visited Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hoog here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wurzbach and family entertained Sunday with a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Stinson who have just returned from their wedding trip.

County Surveyor, H. V. Haass of Hondo, was over here Monday on business pertaining to his office.

Miss Alma Etter of San Antonio spent Sunday with home folks in our midst.

Chronic Constipation.

There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are meant to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is not so likely to be followed by constipation.

What He Needed.

Mr. Greenby decided to grow vegetables, and straightway paid a visit to the nearest store to buy the necessary seed.

The salesman showed him samples of the various kinds of potatoes as a start off, but Mr. Greenby could find none to suit.

"I am afraid these will not do," he remarked. Then in a confidential whisper, he added: "You see, I have only two teeth in my head, and unfortunately they are not opposite one another. Haven't you any mashed potato seed?"—Pearson's Weekly.

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Small Town People Had a Great Idea, but It Was Disappointing to the "Drummer."

A commercial traveler arrived for the first time at a small country town one evening. Early next morning he was awakened by a great blowing of whistles, steam sirens, buzzers, etc.

Rejoicing in the thought of doing a lot of business, he asked the hotel proprietor later on:

"This is quite a manufacturing town, isn't it?"

"Oh, yes; we're pretty busy," was the proud reply.

"What kind of factories have you?"

"Well"—this time more slowly—"flour principally."

"Only flour?"

"Yes, that's all as yet. But our flour mill's a good one."

"But I heard at least a dozen whistles going this morning."

"You did," agreed the proprietor, dropping his voice, confidentially, "but they are all at the flour mill. You see, we got the whistles we should want for the factories we are going to have, and put them in to make the town sound more lively. Quite 'edified,' ain't it?"

—London Answers.

Reason Enthroned.

Because meats are so tasty they are consumed in great excess. This leads to stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. Revise your diet, let reason and not a pampered appetite control, then take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will soon be well again. Try it.

Gave Daddy Away.

Mr. Daniels, the minister, was being entertained at dinner. Little Ralph was allowed to be present.

"Do you always say your prayers at night, my little man?" asked the guest.

"Yes, sir," was the boy's prompt reply, "and mother does, too."

"That's right. And your father says his, too, doesn't he?"

"No, sir," said Ralph, "he don't have to say any prayers."

"Why, what do you mean?" asked the minister.

"He don't have to," repeated the child, "because he never gets home till it's broad daylight, and then what is there to pray about?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Search.

We saw Diogenes the other day with his lantern.

"Still looking for an honest man?" we asked. He shook his head mournfully.

"No; I gave that up long ago. I wish I'd stuck to it. It wasn't half so hopeless as what I'm doing now."

He certainly did look despondent, and our heart went out to him.

"What are you looking for now, then?" we asked.

He sighed.

"I'm looking for a congressman who made out his income tax without anybody's help."—Life.

Periodic Bilious Attacks

Persons subject to periodic bilious attacks will observe that their appetite fails them just before an attack. That is, they do not really crave food but eat because it is meal time. If they will eat only a light meal and no meat, then take two of Chamberlain's Tablets the attack may be avoided.

The Core of the Afternoon.

Little Marjorie, who is three, told her mother the other evening that while the mother was uptown shopping in the afternoon the little girl had been taken by a servant to call on her father in the latter's office.

"What time did you go?" asked the mother.

"Oh, in the core of the afternoon," replied the little girl.

"Mother doesn't understand what you mean by the 'core' of the afternoon," it was explained to Marjorie.

"Why, I mean the middle," she said simply, as if wondering at the ignorance of grown folks.

Back to the Beginning.

Little Bennie's father was explaining his geography to him, when little Bennie asked: "If the world is round and turns around all the time, why don't we fall off?" His father replied: "The law of gravity controls the earth." Bennie thought a moment and then asked: "But what did the people do before the law was passed?"

Strikes and Strikes.

"Nobody should be permitted to call a strike."

"And yet, Charley, dear," protested young Mrs. Torkins, mildly, "I have seen you almost ready to throw a ginger ale bottle because the umpire didn't."

For the Children.

Too much care cannot be exercised in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful drug and most effective in curing their coughs and colds. Long experience has shown that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these conditions. It is a favorite with many mothers.

Ecsema, tetter and salt rheum keep their victims in perpetual torment. The application of Chamberlain's Salve will instantly allay this itching.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royce City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Killman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half a bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other aches, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, trial.

AND IT WASN'T HER HUBBY

Waiting Wife Forced to Realize She Was a Bit Hasty in Her Sharp Rebuke.

My husband was in the habit of attending lodge once every two weeks on Saturday night, and would stay until quite late. On such occasions I would lock all the doors but one, which was in an inclosed porch, and take my little girl and go upstairs to bed feeling quite safe. My husband understood this and would come in without disturbing me.

On one of these nights I was awakened by a pounding on the door which was locked. Thinking it was my husband, I paid no attention, but the pounding continued.

Finally, quite disgusted, thinking he should know enough to come in at the other door, I raised the window and hollered down: "Why in Sam Hill don't you go around to the other door?" A strange voice spoke: "I have a telegram for you."

I had to go down and face him, but fortunately for me there was a mistake in the delivery; but that made it no less embarrassing.—Chicago Tribune.

Dollars and Cents.

Counting it only in dollars and cents how much did that last cold cost you? A man may not always stop when he has a cold, but perhaps it would be better if he did. It takes about ten days to get completely rid of a cold under the usual treatment. Time can be much shortened by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy proper care of yourself, in fact, a bottle of this remedy in the house is a mighty good investment during winter and spring months.

Our position simply is that spring styles are best adapted to spring chickens.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES IT

Has Never Known Med- To Produce Results Like Tanlac.

Dr. M. D. with offices at 1011 Building, Peoria, Illinois, with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac.

Dr. M. D. graduated from Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., later graduated course at Rush Medical College, Chicago, and has also studied been in active practice over twenty-five years in Peoria, and is one of the best known physicians of that city.

As my knowledge goes, Tanlac, in an interview recent, science has never produced medicine that brings results so quick. It is altogether to good from suffering humanity and I am prescribing it in my practice with remarkable re-

I had suffered from trouble and rheumatism and my best thought trying relief, but all to no avail. After eating, gas would form in stomach and affect my heart, poor circulation, cold hands, dizzy spells, spots before my eyes, feelings, terrible head- and cramps in my stomach. Rheumatism was the kind that is by uric acid deposits in the joints which find their way into the blood and the pain was so great I hardly stand to move my legs.

It's no surprise that I devoted time and thought, using all my power, trying to free myself of these troubles. But nothing I ever found got Tanlac afforded me more little temporary relief. And when I found out the powers of Tanlac, I had a patient who had suffered years with the same kind of trouble and while I did all I could for him and he failed, he failed to move any. Well, this party to my office one day, after having away for about six months, never in all my life saw a man in better health or seem to feel better. While sitting there in my office, he told me Tanlac was what he needed about the wonderful change. I do not doubt it, for I knew what his condition he had been in, and I put my mind then and there to Tanlac in my own case. So I did the results are that a few bottles of Tanlac cured me entirely of stomach trouble, rheumatism and all my other troubles as well. I am an extra eater, especially of meats and foods as often produce bad effects, but none of these things disturb me any more. So now, as I have discovered the value of Tanlac, I am ready to honor it as one of the most beneficial of all medicines. I prescribe it, in cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder disorders, run down condition, with wonderful results. I feel that I ought to benefit of suffering humanity, and my experience with Tanlac to the public.

INFORMATION FOR THE SWED

Bright Boy at Once Saw Answer to Conundrum That Had Long Puzzled Audience.

In the farce-comedy, "Imagination," the character of a Swedish servant girl has what is called in theatrical parlance "a gag line," which is, in brief, a line often repeated by the same character during the course of the play.

This particular gag line was: "Ay know a conundrum; Ay don't know what the question ban, but the answer ban, because ay kaint sit down." Each time the line was repeated it was greeted with a chuckle from the audience and had thoroughly impressed itself by the time the eloping bridegroom came on with his future bride, the chunky leading lady. Both were in riding habit.

They showed the fatigue of a twenty-mile gallop across country. "Won't you be seated?" asked the rector's wife. The bride-to-be attempted to comply, then falteringly replied: "I—I—think I had better stand."

"Great!" chirped a boy in the gallery. "Tell it to the Swede!"—St. Louis Star.

WOOD VERY LIKE MAHOGANY

Cariania Can Be Used to Advantage in the Absence of the More Valuable Lumber.

It is interesting to note that more than twenty mahoganylike woods are now offered as true mahogany, not to mention a considerable number of woods cunningly stained to imitate mahogany. In the present circumstances, therefore, when the demand for mahogany is greater than the supply, unusual interest attaches to such woods as Cariania or Colombian mahogany, which is acknowledged not to be mahogany, but which is so similar to it in color, grain effects and working qualities as to serve for the rare wood.

The statement is made that while Cariania differs widely in its botanical and anatomical characters from true mahogany, its close superficial resemblance to mahogany and its physical properties at once distinguish it as a high-class cabinet wood. When properly seasoned it does not warp, check or shrink, while much of the lumber is beautifully figured. It works well, takes a filler readily and can be highly polished.

You Do More Work.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

FILIPINAS GET BALLOT BEFORE AMER. SISTERS

Senora de Veyra Describes Status of Women in the Philippines.

The Filipino woman is destined to be in the world's spotlight more than ever before as a result of the news just received by cable from Manila to the effect that the Philippine senate has passed the equal suffrage bill giving women full political rights with men. This would indicate that the Filipina may beat her American sisters to the ballot box.

The Filipina has many admirers who predict she will make good if she gets the vote, just as she has made good in the very important role she has occupied in the family and business life of the Philippines ever since the introduction of Christianity in the islands three centuries ago.

"America's advent in the Philippines discovered a wonderfully interesting, responsive little being, the Filipino woman," writes one American concerning the Filipina. "Mothering the only Christian people in the far east, she holds a place of authority, love and respect in family and social life that is not accorded to women in countries neighboring the islands, or in India, China or Japan."

A Filipina who is doing an important work for her people in the United States is Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra, wife of the resident commissioner from the Philippines. Not only has she frequently addressed the wives of members of Congress in Washington as to conditions in the new Philippines, but she has visited various cities, speaking before women's clubs. The senora wears, in giving her talks, one of the beautiful gowns of her home land, a delicate pineapple fabric, hand-woven and hand-embroidered, shaped like a gauzy-winged butterfly.

"In many ways the path of the women of the Philippines is easy," says Senora de Veyra. "Laws made by her have combined the best of American and Spanish precedents, and she has come into her own with far less struggle than either her American or her Spanish sisters. Married women may hold property in severalty. They are guardians of their own children. These are vested rights and cannot be taken away from her."

"Professional opportunities are as good for women as for men in the land from which I come. The Filipina is by custom the dictator in the home. She is usually the keeper of the family treasure. Practically all of the small shops in Manila are conducted by women. Women are already members of the Philippine Bar Association—a thing still impossible in Great Britain. They are also successful as physicians."

Life is really a fifty-fifty proposition for women in the Philippines, according to the senora, who has taken such a prominent part in women's work there that she has sometimes been referred to as "the little mother of them all." She was the assistant matron of the Normal Hall Dormitory for Girls when she married. She speaks English fluently and puts her little talks "over" with real tact. She has four children. An evidence of her enterprise was her action last year in mastering shorthand so she might be "useful to her husband at home in the evenings in case he wishes to dictate a few letters or a speech."

DON'T GIVE UP.

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Hondo Woman.

Experience is the modern instructor. Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life. The experience of friends and neighbors.

The testimony of Hondo people. Will bring renewed encouragement. Here is a case in point:

Mrs. X. Wantz, Hondo, says: "My kidneys were disordered for some time. A dull bearing down pain appeared in my back which greatly increased until I had to give up. I couldn't stoop over or straighten up again without severe pain. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and bought some at Martin's Drug Store. From the start Doan's did me good and I gladly recommend them to others." (Statement given May 29, 1915).

On May 3, 1919, Mrs. Wantz said: "I think just as much of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I gave my former statement. I have had no occasion to use them since, for the cure they worked then has proven permanent."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wantz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FINALLY SEVERED RED TAPE

But Messenger Had to Declare Himself Emphatically Before He Got That Ice Book.

The quartermaster's department had conferred upon me authority to buy for the sum of $6 an ice book good for 2,000 pounds of ice and had sent me to this building, headed up "Commissary," for the goods. The first clerk I saw did not question my good intentions or my legal and military right to buy that ice book somewhere in the building, but was doubtful of his authority to sell it to me. He lacked self-confidence.

He said: "Go to the other end of the building."

And he said: "Go to the other side of the building."

And he said: "Go to the other end of the building."

And I said: "D—! I've been to three ends and five sides of this building and I go no further. If you've got an ice book—and I have reasons for believing you have—I ask you as man to man to give it to us."

He said: "Sir, it is yours."—Bookman.

California Reports Finding Millions of Shells Far Above the Present Sea Level.

Orlis I. Kennedy, an attorney of San Bernardino, Cal., has returned from an exploration trip up Painted hill, which is 40 miles east of San Bernardino. He brought with him samples of seashells from the great bed of a one-time ocean that is older than Mount San Jacinto and a story of seeing an old Spanish musket and Indian water vessels in an inaccessible place on the hill.

Kennedy plans to organize a party to return and get the musket, which, he believes, is at least one hundred years old. To obtain the relic somebody will have to be lowered from a cliff on a rope and then swung into what probably is an old sea cavern.

Some of the shells, he said, were found 2,050 feet above sea level. He stated there probably were millions embedded in the rock formation.

A Sure Cure.

"I sometimes grow weary of the rush and roar of the city," admitted Mordecai Morose, "the soulless money grabbing, the hurrying, selfish, indifferent crowds, the brick and mortar and asphalt, and long to turn my back on it all and dwell in the peaceful, friendly country. And when I can endure it no longer I go for a couple of days down to dear old Wayoverbehind, where everybody is interested in everybody else's business, and the peace is so abundant and the quiet so plentiful that a dog fight with three participants in it is a sufficient topic for 24 hours of animated conversation. And straightaway I become reconciled to my lot, and hit the high places back toward the Big Burg."—Kansas City Star.

Read not to contradict and to confute nor to believe and take for granted, but to weigh and consider.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

DAUGHTER OF AGUINALDO IN U. S. CAPITAL

She Meets Many Wives of American Statesmen and Makes a Hit.

When General Emilio Aguinaldo was leading the Filipino army against the American forces twenty years ago he probably little dreamed that some day a daughter of his would visit the city of Washington and would be given a great reception at the famous Congressional Club! And that the wives of 120 members of the American Congress and two wives of members of the President's cabinet would call upon her to pay their respects!

But all this actually happened when Miss Carmen Aguinaldo, this nineteen-year-old daughter, visited Washington recently. And those wives of the American statesmen expressed themselves as both charmed and surprised at the refined, tactful, college educated young miss who greeted them.

"Miss Aguinaldo was simply delightful," was the expression of one congressman's wife. "She was very modest, yet she acted so natural and thoroughly at home that she captivated everybody."

On another occasion while in Washington Miss Aguinaldo was given a real ovation by a Filipino-American audience when she recited "My Last Farewell," poem of Dr. Jose Rizal, the Filipino martyr.

Miss Aguinaldo is a student at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. While in Washington she was the guest of Mrs. Jaime C. de Veyra, wife of one of the resident commissioners from the Philippines. The Capitol building and the Congressional library appealed particularly to the young Filipina, while the beautiful sights from the Washington monument thrilled her with delight. When asked how she liked America, she smiled and answered:

"It is a wonderful country. I didn't like winter at first, but since I have learned how to skate I am having fine times. All the Americans whom I have met have been very good to me. My friends in Urbana and my classmates in the university are just lovely, but I cannot help feeling homesick at times because I am missing my father. My coming here was indeed a great sacrifice for him, for we are very close. He is so good to me."

Miss Aguinaldo is intensely patriotic. She does not conceal her resentment when she hears or reads of a misrepresentation of the Filipinos. "It is unfortunate," she once exclaimed in a voice full of sadness, "that my country and my people are hardly known, much less understood, by the people of America."

Politics is tabooed in any conversation with this Filipino maid. She evades the topic by replying that she is too young to express opinions on things political. "All I can say," she declares, "is that I share with my father in the desire for independence for my native land. There is no question about our being able to govern ourselves."

Filipinos declare Miss Aguinaldo has a "genuine Filipina temperament"—that is, she does not believe in the occidental custom of "dates" between young men and women. She does not see anything wrong in it, she says, but it is such a violent departure from the custom in the Philippines that she cannot adopt it.

"You might laugh at me," she said, "but I cannot go out with one single escort unchaperoned. I simply can't. I will go back to my country with the soul of a Filipina."

A newspaper in one of the large American cities that Miss Aguinaldo visited expressed the opinion that she would no doubt be greatly impressed by the sight of street cars and some of the fine residences she would see, but the truth is the young lady was raised in Manila, where she has seen an up-to-date street car system all her life.
